ANNUAL REPORT

FOR THE YEAR ENDED

FEBRUARY 28, 2017

American Trust Allegiance Fund

April 2017

Dear Fellow Shareholders,

The last year has seen many changes, ranging from the election of President Donald Trump to the U.K.'s vote to exit the European Union to new highs in the world stock markets. Even with continued uncertainty to both economic and fiscal policy, stock market volatility has remained subdued, and managing risk remains our most important task in this market environment. Sensitivity to valuation levels is key, and involves exiting holdings that have become expensive and making opportunistic purchases of quality companies selling at distressed prices.

During this year of economic and political change, the American Trust Allegiance Fund has remained focused on quality companies bought at reasonable prices that we believe, in turn, should lead to solid long-term performance. The Portfolio Manager's Q&A section of this Annual Report discusses the Fund's long-term approach in some detail.

For the fiscal year ended February 28, 2017, the Fund delivered a total return of 20.90%. This compares to the 24.98% return recorded by the S&P 500® Index ("S&P 500"). This underperformance relative to the S&P 500 is attributable to the following:

- 1) Our investments in Consumer Discretionary stocks were mixed as we saw strength in Comcast Corp. but were disappointed in Burberry Group Plc and Hanesbrands Inc. which we have since sold. The Fund also lagged a bit in both the Industrials and Materials sectors. On the positive side, the Fund's high exposure to the Technology sector, comprising around 32% of the Fund vs. a 21% weighting for the S&P 500, provided a boost to performance, especially through our stakes in Lam Research Corp. and Applied Materials Inc.
- 2) As the broader U.S. stock market posted strong gains, international stocks also performed well – but to varying degrees. The MSCI EAFE* and EEM* indices, which respectively track international stocks from developed and emerging countries, posted gains of 15.75% and 29.46% for the 12 months ended February 2017. The Fund invests both directly and indirectly in companies which have a large presence in international markets, including emerging market countries, which impacted performance relative to the S&P 500 even as it reduced risk through broader diversification.
- 3) Our GARP (Growth At a Reasonable Price) investment discipline, which we strongly believe can deliver good relative performance through the course of a market cycle, did fare well over the last three months of the fiscal year, as the Fund returned 9.78% vs. the S&P 500 return of 8.04% from strength in technology, financials and consumer staples.

American Trust Allegiance Fund

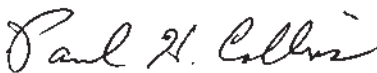

Overall, we were pleased with the performance of the Allegiance Fund, but still somewhat disappointed at underperforming the S&P 500 last year. We remain confident in the companies in which we are invested in the Fund – and in the value we believe is inherent in their shares. In this year's Annual Report, we invite you to share our confidence in these companies and their prospects through an “under the hood” look at the portfolio and the investment process.

Our invitation has three parts: a) a statistical ‘snapshot’ of selected value and growth measures for the portfolio, the significance of which we will explain; b) an extended Question & Answer dialogue with the co-portfolio managers of the Fund which will give you a perspective on both the big picture investment opportunities in which we are investing as well as the security analysis which underpins our stock selections; and lastly, c) we welcome your questions on any and all stocks in the portfolio via email or through a telephone conversation.

The last part of our invitation is unusual, but is a hallmark of our firm and its philosophy. Very few fund managers invite shareholders to call them directly, but we do! As you read through the following sections of this report – the Fund Snapshot and the Portfolio Manager Q&A, please do call us if you have questions. We always stand ready to talk about the Fund or its investments, or if you would like to discuss ways in which our investment advisory firm might be able to assist you more broadly. While we know many of you personally, there are some we know less well and we would love to rectify that situation.

We appreciate your support of, and investment in, the American Trust Allegiance Fund. Thank you, and we look forward to sharing with you the results of our investing activities over the course of 2017 and beyond.

Sincerely yours,

Paul H. Collins

Carey Callaghan

FUND STATISTICAL SNAPSHOT

While the investing world is classically divided between “growth” and “value” in terms of investment style, we have a GARP (Growth At a Reasonable Price) investment discipline that combines elements of both. We want to invest in companies that are growing sales and earnings at a robust pace, but we do not want to “pay” too much for the shares of these companies.

Shown below are relevant valuation and growth statistics for the Fund as compared to the S&P 500. The first four measures are valuation measures (see definitions below if you are unfamiliar with what these mean). For these four valuation measures, a lower number represents a ‘less expensive’ stock, all else being equal. The fifth measure is the dividend yield, where a higher number is favorable. The last four rows pertain to growth – for earnings per share (future and historical), sales and cash flow. For these four measures, a higher number is favorable.

American Trust Allegiance Fund

A quick glance at the numbers below shows that, across the first four valuation measures, the Fund is invested in securities that are less expensive than the S&P 500. As to growth, the historical earnings growth measure is less than the S&P 500, but the other three growth numbers are higher than the S&P 500 metrics. We leave it to you to judge the magnitude of these differences and their potential, but we believe that the positioning of the American Trust Allegiance Fund puts it in a relatively advantageous position.

NTM P/E ratio – Next Twelve Months price-to-earnings ratio is a commonly used way to assess how “expensive” a stock might be; the price of a share of stock divided by the expected earnings per share over the next twelve months; higher values are considered more expensive.

EPS – Earnings per share. The amount of money a company earns in a given period (typically a quarter or a year) for each share of the company.

Price/Book – The price-to-book ratio is a ratio used to compare a stock’s market value to its book value. It is calculated by dividing the current closing price of the stock by the latest quarter’s book value per share; a lower Price/Book could mean the company is undervalued.

Price/Sales – The price-to-sales ratio is an indicator of the value placed on each dollar of a company’s sales or revenues. It can be calculated either by dividing the company’s market capitalization by its total sales over a 12-month period, or on a per-share basis by dividing the stock price by sales per share for a 12-month period; a low price/sales ratio could mean undervaluation.

Price/Cash Flow – The price-to-cash flow ratio is a ratio used to compare a company’s market value to its cash flow. It is calculated by dividing the company’s market cap by the company’s operating cash flow in the most recent fiscal year (or the most recent four fiscal quarters); or, equivalently, divide the per-share stock price by the per-share operating cash flow; a low single digit ratio may indicate the stock is undervalued.

Dividend Yield % – Dividend Yield percentage is a financial ratio that indicates how much a company pays out in dividends each year relative to its share price. Dividend yield is represented as a percentage and calculated by dividing the annualized dollar value of the current quarterly dividends paid per share of stock held by the dollar value of one share of stock. Dividend yield is a way to measure how much cash flow you are getting for each dollar invested in an equity position.

Long-Term Earnings Growth % – Earnings are what's left of a firm's revenues after it pays all of its expenses, costs, and taxes. Projected earnings growth is an estimate of a company's expected long-term growth in earnings; companies whose earnings grow faster than those of their industry peers usually see better price performance for their stocks. Earnings growth is not a measure of fund performance.

Historical Earnings Growth % – The historical earnings growth rate for a stock is a measure of how the stock's earnings per share (EPS) have grown over the last five years. The historical earnings growth rate can tell investors how quickly a company's profits are growing. A company may increase its earnings per share by increasing its sales, decreasing its costs, or reducing the number of shares outstanding in the marketplace.

Sales Growth % – Sales growth shows the rate of increase in a company's sales per share, based on up to four periodic time periods. It is considered the best gauge of how rapidly a company's core business is growing and how quickly a company is increasing its revenues.

Cash-Flow Growth % – Cash-flow tells you how much cash a business is generating its earnings before depreciation, amortization, and noncash charges. Sometimes called cash earnings, it's considered a gauge of liquidity and solvency. Cash-flow growth shows the rate of increase in a company's cash flow per share, based on up to four time periods.

Portfolio Managers' Q & A Session

A discussion with Paul Collins and Carey Callaghan, co-portfolio managers of the American Trust Allegiance Fund.

Q: With the Allegiance Fund celebrating its 20th anniversary on March 11, 2017, what lessons have you learned about fund management and investing in general over the years?

A: (Paul) – The Fund has sought growth opportunities since its inception. In the first three years of the Fund's life, we were meaningfully overweight in the technology sector and the sector did well. As a result of the tech bubble, the sector experienced a corresponding downside. The lesson was one of humility, but it also taught us the importance of prudent diversification despite the strong or weak performance of any one sector of stocks.

One of the takeaways was stressing the importance of buying high quality companies, with sound management teams, and good long-term growth prospects. We also learned the importance of conviction. But you can't have conviction without having a set of beliefs. Our core investment beliefs are: a long-term, global perspective; insightful, in-depth research; value as a performance driver; and the importance of independent thinking. These beliefs inform our investment process.

Q: What is your investment process?

A: (Paul) – As a socially responsible fund, screening out companies that don't meet our industry screens – specifically those significantly involved in alcohol, tobacco, gaming, pharmaceuticals, biotechnology and medical devices – is of course a part of what we do. From an investment standpoint, it is a reflexive process between the bottom up (starting with individual stocks) and the top down (starting with macro-economic data such as inflation, economic growth and employment trends).

A: (Carey) – From a bottom up perspective, we use fundamental analysis when researching potential investment candidates. Sources of research include our own stock screening work plus meetings with corporate officers, financial and industry publications, annual reports, regulatory filings, corporate rating services, and third-party research.

When we do this work, we focus on three factors when thinking about specific stocks: (1) a compelling valuation, especially relative to the growth prospects and the company's risk factors; (2) quality management; and (3) the existence of a catalyst to drive the stock price higher. The last of these is part science and part art. We look for companies where we believe the market may have 'got it wrong.' This might mean the market is not, in our opinion, fully appreciating growth potential, or is perhaps misunderstanding risk or the quality of the business.

Q: What are some of the top down opportunities, and how do you identify them?

A: (Paul) – Each year in January the Fund advisor, American Trust Investment Advisors, hosts an online investment seminar where we identify 10 things that we believe are reshaping the investment landscape. This process creates a good discipline – causing us to focus intently on factors that are changing. This year, for instance, we discussed the impact that the Trump Administration will have on changes to both corporate and personal taxes, the rise of nationalism/populism across the globe, OPEC's oil production cut and the reemergence of the U.S. shale industry, the future relationship between the U.S. and Mexico, the continued growth of smart cars/trucks and possible impact for automotive suppliers, the future of 5G technology for both wireless and IT infrastructure companies, and a few others.

A: (Carey) – According to Advertising Age, 2016 marked the first time that U.S. adults spent over 12 hours per day watching media across a variety of platforms, from TVs to smart phones to tablets. We view 5G technology as a catalyst for future growth by allowing applications to operate in real time at 100 times current wireless speeds. The Fund's investments in Cisco Systems Inc., a leading router and IT infrastructure company, and American Tower Corp., an owner, operator and developer of wireless and broadcast communications real estate, puts the Fund in a strong position to potentially benefit from 5G technology.

American Trust Allegiance Fund

Q: How have the markets reacted to the new Trump Administration? And what impact will his policies have on investments?

A: (Paul) – Defensive-oriented stocks have had a strong run over the past two years but we believe this trend is over. Rising interest rates, broadly expected under the new President's policies, will only support the trend away from defensive stocks such as REITs, utilities, healthcare, and telecoms. If this does indeed continue, we believe the Fund is well positioned to take advantage of this shift in market leadership toward cyclical.

A: (Carey) – While the new White House focus on infrastructure, lower corporate taxes and more sensible regulation should favor the Fund's holdings, countervailing risks from proposed border adjustment taxes and rising levels of global tension concerns remain. Stock selection is particularly important in this environment, and we are devoting significant time in analyzing existing and prospective new stocks across four key dimensions important to proposed U.S. corporate tax legislation: effective U.S. tax rates and geographic exposure, leverage, capital intensity, and foreign cash repatriation opportunities.

Q: What were some of the changes that you made to the Fund during the year?

A: (Carey) – In addition to adding Devon Energy Corp. and ConocoPhillips and prior to the OPEC production cut announced in November 2016, we established a position in YPF S.A., an Argentinian oil producer. We moved out of Hanesbrands and into Under Armour, Inc. after a selloff in the shares of the latter. We also sold our position in Verint Systems Inc., which turned out to be a disappointment, and swapped into Check Point Software Technologies Ltd., a leader in IT security.

Q: Although the Fund is currently mostly domestic, it also invests internationally. What is your view of the U.S. versus international investing?

A: (Paul) – We believe it is important to invest internationally to diversify our portfolio, but also to capitalize on growth opportunities as emerging areas of the world catch up with the developed nations. In the current environment however, there are significant risks associated with the slowing Chinese economy, especially relating to its growing corporate debt bubble which is estimated at 70% of total Chinese debt. Accordingly, we are investing less in China than we have in prior years but continue to look for opportunities overseas and are looking to places like Singapore and Dubai as beneficiaries of capital flight from China.

American Trust Allegiance Fund

A: (Carey) – In an effort to partially mitigate risk, our investment strategy has centered on investing in companies with a meaningful presence in higher growth economies such as those of many emerging market countries. In 2016, we invested in BAE Systems plc, a British defense contractor, in anticipation of higher U.S., U.K., and NATO defense spending. During the last year, we also invested in Kimberly-Clark de Mexico SAB de CV and Embraer S.A. – the Brazilian aircraft manufacturer.

Q: What is your investment outlook?

A: (Paul) – The appreciation in stock prices since the November election has been strong and with a rising stock market, stock values have become more expensive (as of early April 2017), but in our opinion, stocks appear to be more attractive than other alternatives. Accordingly, we believe that investors will continue to focus on stock market investing to provide both growth and income potential for their portfolios, and will be aided by the Trump Administration's goal for 3-4% growth through tax and regulatory reform as well as expected growth internationally.

A: (Carey) – At the current market P/E (price-to-earnings ratio), it is our opinion that we are dependent on decent earnings growth to propel the market upward. While the still relatively strong dollar is a headwind for some companies, we expect that others will benefit from continued lower oil prices, changes in the tax code, technological innovation, new product introductions, and new ways of doing business with less government regulation. We remain constructive on the outlook for stocks, and are keenly focused on finding relative opportunity through stock selection – including in overseas markets that have not enjoyed the same performance as the U.S. market.

capitalization companies, which tend to have limited liquidity and greater price volatility than larger-capitalization companies. The Fund invests in foreign securities, which are subject to the risks of currency fluctuation, political and economic stability and differences in accounting standards. These risks are greater in emerging markets. The Fund may make short sales of securities, which involve the risk that losses may exceed the original amount invested.

Investments in Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs) will be subject to the risks associated with the direct ownership of real estate and annual compliance with tax rules applicable to REITs. Risks commonly associated with the direct ownership of real estate include fluctuations in the value of underlying properties, defaults by borrowers or tenants, changes in interest rates and risks related to general or local economic conditions. In addition, REITs have their own expenses, and the Fund will bear a proportionate share of those expenses.

EXPENSE EXAMPLE at February 28, 2017 (Unaudited)

As a shareholder of a fund, you incur two types of costs: (1) transaction costs, including sales charges (loads) on purchase payments; redemption fees; and exchange fees; and (2) ongoing costs, including management fees; distribution and/or service fees; and other fund expenses. This Example is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in the Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds. The Example is based on an investment of $1,000 invested at the beginning of the period and held for the entire period (9/1/16 – 2/28/17).

Actual Expenses

The first line of the table below provides information about actual account values and actual expenses, with actual net expenses being limited to 1.45% per the operating expenses limitation agreement. Although the Fund charges no sales load or transaction fees, you will be assessed fees for outgoing wire transfers, returned checks, and stop payment orders at prevailing rates charged by U.S. Bancorp Fund Services, LLC, the Fund's transfer agent. The Example below includes, but is not limited to, management fees, fund accounting, custody and transfer agent fees. You may use the information in this line, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the first line under the heading entitled "Expenses Paid During Period" to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during this period.

Hypothetical Example for Comparison Purposes

The second line of the table below provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing costs of investing in the Fund and other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of the other funds. Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs, such as sales charges (loads), redemption fees, or exchange fees. Therefore, the second line of the table is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if these transactional costs were included, your costs would have been higher.

American Trust Allegiance Fund

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS at February 28, 2017

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION

The American Trust Allegiance Fund (the “Fund”) is a diversified series of Advisors Series Trust (the “Trust”), which is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the “1940 Act”) as an open-end management investment company. The Fund follows the investment company accounting and reporting guidance of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) Accounting Standard Codification Topic 946 “Financial Services – Investment Companies”. The investment objective of the Fund is to seek capital appreciation. The Fund began operations on March 11, 1997.

NOTE 2 – SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund. These policies are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

- A. Security Valuation: All investments in securities are recorded at their estimated fair value, as described in note 3.
- B. Federal Income Taxes: It is the Fund’s policy to comply with the requirements of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income to its shareholders. Therefore, no Federal income or excise tax provision is required.

The Fund recognizes the tax benefits of uncertain tax positions only where the position is “more likely than not” to be sustained assuming examination by tax authorities. Management has analyzed the Fund’s tax positions, and has concluded that no liability for unrecognized tax benefits should be recorded related to uncertain tax positions taken on returns filed for open tax years 2014 – 2016, or expected to be taken in the Fund’s 2017 tax returns. The Fund identifies its major tax jurisdictions as U.S. Federal and the state of Wisconsin; however the Fund is not aware of any tax positions for which it is reasonably possible that the total amounts of unrecognized tax benefits will change materially in the next twelve months.

- C. Security Transactions, Income and Distributions: Security transactions are accounted for on the trade date. Realized gains and losses on securities sold are calculated on the basis of first in, first out. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Dividend income and distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. Withholding taxes on foreign dividends have been provided for in accordance with the Fund's understanding of the applicable country's tax rules and rates.

Common expenses of the Trust are typically allocated among the funds in the Trust based on a fund's respective net assets, or by other equitable means.

The Fund distributes substantially all net investment income, if any, and net realized gains, if any, annually. Distributions from net realized gains for book purposes may include short-term capital gains. All short-term capital gains are included in ordinary income for tax purposes.

The amount of dividends and distributions to shareholders from net investment income and net realized capital gains is determined in accordance with Federal income tax regulations which differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. To the extent these book/tax differences are permanent, such amounts are reclassified within the capital accounts based on their Federal tax treatment.

- D. Reclassification of Capital Accounts: Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require that certain components of net assets relating to permanent differences be reclassified between financial and tax reporting. These reclassifications have no effect on net assets or net asset value per share.

For the year ended February 28, 2017, the Fund made the following permanent tax adjustments on the statement of assets and liabilities:

Accumulated Net Investment Income/(Loss)	Accumulated Net Realized Gain/(Loss)	Paid-in Capital
$16,356	$(8,402)	$(7,954)

- E. Use of Estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of increases and decreases in net assets during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.
- F. REITs: The Fund has made certain investments in real estate investment trusts ("REITs") which pay dividends to their shareholders based upon available funds from operations. It is quite common for these dividends to exceed the REITs' taxable earnings and profits resulting in the excess portion being designated as a return of capital. The Fund intends to include the gross dividends from such REITs in its annual distributions to its shareholders and, accordingly, a portion of the Fund's distributions may also be designated as a return of capital.

- G. New Accounting Pronouncement: In October 2016, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission adopted new rules and amended existing rules (together, "final rules") intended to modernize the reporting and disclosure of information by registered investment companies. In part, the final rules amend Regulation S-X and require standardized, enhanced disclosure about derivatives in investment company financial statements, as well as other amendments. The compliance date for the amendments to Regulation S-X is August 1, 2017. Management is currently evaluating the impact that the adoption of the amendments to Regulation S-X will have on the financial statements and related disclosures.
- H. Events Subsequent to the Fiscal Year End: In preparing the financial statements as of February 28, 2017, management considered the impact of subsequent events for potential recognition or disclosure in the financial statements. Refer to Note 9 for additional disclosure.

NOTE 3 – SECURITIES VALUATION

The Fund has adopted authoritative fair value accounting standards which establish an authoritative definition of fair value and set out a hierarchy for measuring fair value. These standards require additional disclosures about the various inputs and valuation techniques used to develop the measurements of fair value, a discussion in changes in valuation techniques and related inputs during the period and expanded disclosure of valuation levels for major security types. These inputs are summarized in the three broad levels listed below:

- Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Fund has the ability to access.
- Level 2 – Observable inputs other than quoted prices included in level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the identical instrument on an inactive market, prices for similar instruments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, yield curves, default rates and similar data.

Level 3 – Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability, to the extent relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the Fund's own assumptions about the assumptions a market participant would use in valuing the asset or liability, and would be based on the best information available.

Following is a description of the valuation techniques applied to the Fund's major categories of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis.

The Fund determines the fair value of its investments and computes its net asset value per share as of the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange (4:00 pm EST).

Equity Securities: The Fund's investments are carried at fair value. Equity securities, including common stocks, that are primarily traded on a national securities exchange shall be valued at the last sale price on the exchange on which they are primarily traded on the day of valuation or, if there has been no sale on such day, at the mean between the bid and asked prices. Securities primarily traded in the NASDAQ Global Market System for which market quotations are readily available shall be valued using the NASDAQ Official Closing Price ("NOCP"). If the NOCP is not available, such securities shall be valued at the last sale price on the day of valuation, or if there has been no sale on such day, at the mean between the bid and asked prices. Over-the-counter securities which are not traded in the NASDAQ Global Market System shall be valued at the most recent sales price. Investments in open-end mutual funds are valued at their net asset value per share. To the extent these securities are actively traded and valuation adjustments are not applied, they are categorized in level 1 of the fair value hierarchy.

Short-Term Securities: Short-term debt securities, including those securities having a maturity of 60 days or less, are valued at the evaluated mean between the bid and asked prices. To the extent the inputs are observable and timely, these securities would be classified in level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

The Board of Trustees ("Board") has delegated day-to-day valuation issues to a Valuation Committee of the Trust which is comprised of representatives from U.S. Bancorp Fund Services, LLC, the Fund's administrator. The function of the Valuation Committee is to value securities where current and reliable market quotations are not readily available or the closing price does not represent fair value by following procedures approved by the Board. These procedures consider many factors, including the type of security, size of holding, trading volume and news events. All actions taken by the Valuation Committee are subsequently reviewed and ratified by the Board.

Depending on the relative significance of the valuation inputs, fair valued securities may be classified in either level 2 or level 3 of the fair value hierarchy.

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities. The following is a summary of the inputs used to value the Fund's securities as of February 28, 2017:

NOTE 4 – INVESTMENT ADVISORY FEE AND OTHER TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES

For the year ended February 28, 2017, American Trust Investment Advisors, LLC (the “Advisor”) provided the Fund with investment management services under an investment advisory agreement. The Advisor furnished all investment advice, office space, facilities, and provides most of the personnel needed by the Fund. As compensation for its services, the Advisor is entitled to a monthly fee at the annual rate of 0.95% based upon the average daily net assets of the Fund. For the year ended February 28, 2017, the Fund incurred $205,244 in advisory fees.

The Fund is responsible for its own operating expenses. The Advisor has contractually agreed to reduce fees payable to it by the Fund and to pay Fund operating expenses to the extent necessary to limit the Fund's aggregate annual operating expenses (excluding acquired fund fees and expenses, taxes, interest expense and extraordinary expenses) to 1.45% of average daily net assets. Any such reduction made by the Advisor in its fees or payment of expenses which are the Fund's obligation are subject to reimbursement by the Fund to the Advisor, if so requested by the Advisor, in subsequent fiscal years if the aggregate amount actually paid by the Fund toward the operating expenses for such fiscal year (taking into account the reimbursement) does not exceed the applicable limitation on Fund expenses. The Advisor is permitted to be reimbursed only for fee reductions and expense payments made in the previous three fiscal years. Any such reimbursement is also contingent upon Board of Trustees review and approval at the time the reimbursement is made. Such reimbursement may not be paid prior to the Fund's payment of current ordinary operating expenses. For the year ended February 28, 2017, the Advisor reduced its fees in the amount of $96,917; no amounts were reimbursed to the Advisor. Cumulative expenses subject to recapture pursuant to the aforementioned conditions amounted to $273,821 at February 28, 2017. Cumulative expenses subject to recapture expire as follows:

Year	Amount
2018	$ 82,532
2019	94,372
2020	96,917
	$273,821

NOTE 6 – LINE OF CREDIT

The Fund has a credit line in the amount of $575,000. This line of credit is intended to provide short-term financing, if necessary, subject to certain restrictions, in connection with shareholder redemptions. The credit facility is with the Fund's custodian, U.S. Bank N.A. During the year ended February 28, 2017, the Fund did not draw upon the line of credit.

NOTE 7 – INCOME TAXES AND DISTRIBUTIONS TO SHAREHOLDERS

Net investment income/(loss) and net realized gains/(losses) differ for financial statement and tax purposes due to differing treatments of wash sales and late-year losses.

The tax character of distributions paid during the year ended February 28, 2017 and the year ended February 29, 2016 was as follows:

	February 28, 2017	February 29, 2016

Long-term capital gains	466,614	1,522,573

As of February 28, 2017, the components of accumulated earnings/(losses) on a tax basis were as follows:

Cost of investments (a)	$19,198,127
Gross tax unrealized appreciation	4,780,196
Gross tax unrealized depreciation	(434,399)
Net tax unrealized appreciation (a)	4,345,797
Undistributed ordinary income	—
Undistributed long-term capital gain	—
Total distributable earnings	—
Other accumulated gains/(losses)	(152,551)
Total accumulated earnings/(losses)	$ 4,193,246

- (a) The difference between the book-basis and tax-basis net unrealized appreciation is attributed primarily to wash sales and partnership income.

At February 28, 2017, the Fund deferred, on a tax basis, post-October losses of $152,551.

NOTE 8 – PRINCIPAL RISKS

Below is a summary of some, but not all, of the principal risks of investing in the Fund, each of which may adversely affect the Fund's net asset value and total return. The Fund's most recent prospectus provides further descriptions of the Fund's investment objective, principal investment strategies and principal risks.

- Socially Responsible Investing Policy Risk. The Fund's portfolio is subject to socially responsible investment criteria. As a result, the Fund may pass up opportunities to buy certain securities when it is otherwise advantageous to do so, or may sell securities for social reasons when it is otherwise disadvantageous to do so.
- Small- and Medium-Sized Company Risk. Securities of companies with smaller market capitalizations tend to be more volatile and less liquid than larger market capitalization stocks.
- Foreign Securities Risk. Foreign securities can be more volatile than domestic (U.S.) securities. Securities markets of other countries are generally smaller than U.S. securities markets. Many foreign securities may also be less liquid than U.S. securities, which could affect the Fund's investments. In addition, investments made in foreign currencies may be subject to the risk of currency devaluation or exchange rate risk.
- Emerging Markets Risk. Investing in securities of issuers located in emerging markets poses greater risk of social, political and economic instability, which could affect the Fund's investments. Emerging market countries may have smaller securities markets and therefore less liquidity and greater price volatility than more developed markets.
- Sector Emphasis Risk. The securities of companies in the same or related businesses, if comprising a significant portion of the Fund's portfolio, could react in some circumstances negatively to market conditions, interest rates and economic, regulatory or financial developments and adversely affect the value of the portfolio to a greater extent than if such business comprised a lesser portion of the Fund's portfolio.

The American Trust Allegiance Fund

We have audited the accompanying statement of assets and liabilities of The American Trust Allegiance Fund, a series of Advisors Series Trust (the "Trust"), including the schedule of investments, as of February 28, 2017, and the related statement of operations for the year then ended, the statements of changes in net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended, and the financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended. These financial statements and financial highlights are the responsibility of the Trust's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements and financial highlights based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements and financial highlights are free of material misstatement. The Trust is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. Our audits included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Trust's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. Our procedures included confirmation of securities owned as of February 28, 2017, by correspondence with the custodian. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements and financial highlights referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The American Trust Allegiance Fund as of February 28, 2017, the results of its operations for the year then ended, the changes in its net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

APPROVAL OF INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENT (Unaudited)

At a meeting held on December 7-8, 2016, the Board (which is comprised of five persons, four of whom are Independent Trustees as defined under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended), considered and approved the continuance of the investment advisory agreement (the "Advisory Agreement") between Advisors Series Trust (the "Trust") and American Trust Investment Advisors, LLC (the "Advisor") for another annual term, for the American Trust Allegiance Fund (the "Fund"). At this meeting, and at a prior meeting held on October 11-12, 2016, the Board received and reviewed substantial information regarding the Fund, the Advisor and the services provided by the Advisor to the Fund under the Advisory Agreement. This information, together with the information provided to the Board throughout the course of the year, formed the primary (but not exclusive) basis for the Board's determinations. Below is a summary of the factors considered by the Board and the conclusions that formed the basis for the Board's approval of the continuance of the Advisory Agreement:

1. THE NATURE, EXTENT AND QUALITY OF THE SERVICES PROVIDED AND TO BE PROVIDED BY THE ADVISOR UNDER THE ADVISORY AGREEMENT. The Board considered the nature, extent and quality of the Advisor's overall services provided to the Fund as well as its responsibilities in all aspects of day-to-day investment management of the Fund. The Board considered the qualifications, experience and responsibilities of the portfolio managers, as well as the responsibilities of other key personnel of the Advisor involved in the day-to-day activities of the Fund. The Board also considered the resources and compliance structure of the Advisor, including information regarding its compliance program, its chief compliance officer, the Advisor's compliance record, and the Advisor's disaster recovery/business continuity plan. The Board also considered the prior relationship between the Advisor and the Trust, as well as the Board's knowledge of the Advisor's operations, and noted that during the course of the prior year they had met with the Advisor in person to discuss the Fund's performance and investment outlook as well as various marketing and compliance topics, including the Advisor's risk management process. The Board concluded that the Advisor had the quality and depth of personnel, resources, investment methods and compliance policies and procedures essential to performing its duties under the Advisory Agreement and that the nature, overall quality and extent of such management services are satisfactory.
2. THE FUND'S HISTORICAL PERFORMANCE AND THE OVERALL PERFORMANCE OF THE ADVISOR. In assessing the quality of the portfolio management delivered by the Advisor, the Board reviewed the short-term and long-term performance of the Fund as of June 30, 2016 on both an absolute basis, and in comparison to its peer funds utilizing Lipper and Morningstar classifications and an appropriate securities benchmark. While the Board considered both short-term and long-term performance, it placed greater emphasis on longer term performance. When reviewing performance against the comparative peer group universe, the Board took into account that the investment objective and strategies of the Fund, as well as its level of risk tolerance, may differ significantly from funds in the peer universe. In considering the Fund's performance, the Trustees placed greater emphasis on performance against peers as opposed to the unmanaged benchmark indices.

The Board noted that the Fund's performance, with regard to its Lipper comparative universe, was significantly below its peer group median for the one-year, three-year and five-year periods and below the peer group median for the ten-year period.

The Board noted that the Fund's performance, with regard to its Morningstar comparative universe, was significantly below its peer group median for the one-year, three-year and five-year periods and below its peer group media for the ten-year period.

The Board recognized that the Fund's investments are subject to socially-responsible investment criteria as set forth in its prospectus that are generally stricter than that employed by many of its competitors and that shareholders investing in the Fund accept and desire a fund employing such criteria, even if it may impact performance to a greater extent than other socially responsible funds.

3. THE COSTS OF THE SERVICES TO BE PROVIDED BY THE ADVISOR AND THE STRUCTURE OF THE ADVISOR'S FEE UNDER THE ADVISORY AGREEMENT. In considering the advisory fee and total fees and expenses of the Fund, the Board reviewed comparisons to the peer funds, as well as all expense waivers and reimbursements. The Board noted that the Advisor did not manage any other accounts with a similar strategy. The Board did consider the fees charged by the Advisor to its separate account clients who invest the equity portion of their separately managed accounts in the Fund and considered the Advisor's description of the services it provides to separate account holders for that separate account fee.

The Board noted that the Advisor had contractually agreed to maintain an annual expense ratio for the Fund of 1.45% (the "Expense Cap"). The Board noted that the Fund's total expense ratio and contractual advisory fee were each above the peer group median and average, and that the Fund's total expense ratio and contractual advisory fee were also above the peer group median and average when the Fund's peer group was adjusted to include only funds with similar asset sizes. The Board also considered that after advisory fee waivers and the payment of Fund expenses necessary to maintain the Expense Cap, the net advisory fees received by the Advisor from the Fund during the most recent fiscal period were below the peer group median and average and also below the peer group median and average when the Fund's peer group was adjusted to include only funds with similar asset sizes. As a result, the Trustees noted that the Fund's expenses and net advisory fee were not unreasonable when compared to its peer group.

4. ECONOMIES OF SCALE. The Board also considered whether economies of scale were being realized by the Advisor that should be shared with shareholders. The Board further noted that the Advisor has contractually agreed to reduce its advisory fees or reimburse Fund expenses so that the Fund does not exceed the specified Expense Cap. The Board noted that at current asset levels it did not appear that there were additional significant economies of scale being realized by the Advisor and concluded that it would continue to monitor economies of scale in the future as circumstances changed and assuming asset levels continued to increase. The Board also took into account the Advisor's significant marketing efforts to increase Fund assets.

5. THE PROFITS TO BE REALIZED BY THE ADVISOR AND ITS AFFILIATES FROM THEIR RELATIONSHIP WITH THE FUND. The Board reviewed the Advisor's financial information and took into account both the direct benefits and the indirect benefits to the Advisor from advising the Fund. The Board noted that the Advisor maintained a modest balance sheet. The Board considered the profitability to the Advisor from its relationship with the Fund and considered any additional benefits derived by the Advisor from its relationship with the Fund, including the receipt of additional separate account management fees from certain separately managed accounts that are also invested in the Fund. The Board considered that the overall amount of this additional separate account fee was minimal and that the fee was for different services than those provided by the Advisor to the Fund. The Board also considered that the Fund does not charge Rule 12b-1 fees or utilize "soft dollars," although the Advisor does receive research from a broker that is available to any client with an account at such broker. After such review, the Board determined that the profitability to the Advisor with respect to the Advisory Agreement was not excessive, and that the Advisor had maintained adequate profit levels to support the services it provides to the Fund.

APPROVAL OF INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENT (Unaudited), Continued

No single factor was determinative of the Board's decision to approve the continuance of the Advisory Agreement for the Fund, but rather the Board based its determination on the total combination of information available to them. Based on a consideration of all the factors in their totality, the Board determined that the advisory arrangement with the Advisor, including the advisory fees, was fair and reasonable. The Board therefore determined that the continuance of the Advisory Agreement for the Fund would be in the best interest of the Fund and its shareholders.
